For years there has been a flooding problem in the area running behind Victoria St., behind the stores on the south side of Main St., past the State Bank of Antioch.

Mayor Bob Wilton's home is in this area. The village board has approved the spending of up to $10,000 to solve the problem once and for all.

Wilton does not deny that his property on Victoria St. will benefit from the drainage line repair now in progress.

Also reaping the drainage repair harvest will be Wilton's neighbors on Victoria St., the Kennedy and Wolfenberger families, Les Zitkus, those who live in the Weber Ct. apartments adjacent to the State Bank of Antioch's parking lot, the State Bank, Biller Press, and all the businesses on Main St., running east from Four Squires to the corner of Main and

According to Wilton, the village had appropriated up to $10,000 for the laying of new drainage tile, but after opening the drainbed in the yard of a home on Victoria St., workers found that roots had stopped up the 70-year-old drain tile system.

"Because of the drought last year, we had no flooding, but in the last big rainfall a week ago the area really flooded with the people that live in the three apartment buildings not able to get to their apartments," said Wilton.

On the good news side, Wilton said that, after investigating the job, it was found that it could be repaired at a maximum cost of $4,000, and it won't be necessary to install an entire new drain system.

The rains last week were not the first cause of serious flooding in the area.

"A couple of years ago, kids were sailing boats in the high water there after a heavy rain," said Antioch Atty. Robert Long, who lives in the area. Long says, "It's just great that this will finally get fixed, it made the area a mosquito haven."

Rotary dinner, auction to St. Peters

The Antioch Rotary Club's main fundraiser of the year, the Annual Pork Chop-BBQ Dinner and Auction will be held at a new location this year.

Instead of the VFW Hall on North Ave., the Rotarians will hold their clambake at St. Peter's School in Antioch, on Saturday, Sept. 30.

The barbecued pork chop dinner will be served from 5:30 to 7 p.m., followed by the auction.

A new event this year will be a silent auction.

The price of a ticket for the dinner and a chance on the door prize raffle is $15. Tickets are available from any Rotarian, at the State Bank of Antioch, the First National Bank of Antioch, or at the door.

Door prizes include: a 30,000 BTU gas grill donated by the Antioch-Lindenhurst True Value; a Sharp VCR, donated by Carey-Gelden Electric, Antioch; four tickets to the Chicago Bears-Detroit Lions game on Dec. 10, donated by the First National Bank; a men's navy blue blazer, donated by Jack's Four Squires; a $100 gift certificate, donated by Johnson's Jewelers; and a color tv, donated by the State Bank of Antioch.

Winners of the door prize raffle need not be present the evening of the dinner.

Auction items include several vacation trips, sporting event tickets, group dinner parties, collectables and Lake County Fair prize-winning beef and pork.

An Antioch Twp. convenience store was burglarized sometime between closing time on Sunday and opening hours on

According to the Lake County Sheriff Dept's, report, owners of the Country Store on Rte. 173 said that approximately $600 in cigarettes, liquor and adult magazines were taken by the thieves who reportedly entered the building through an opening created by tossing a rock through a front window of the store.

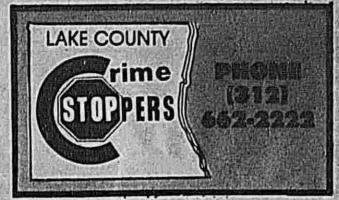

Ready for school run

Answering area school bells all over the Antioch area are the familiar school buses. Getting ready for the morning run to school, James Horsch wipes off his rear view mirror. More Antioch children will be riding school buses this year with school enrollment increases showing up at many area grade schools. Lighting the lamp for the homeless

by Malena Schroeder Lakeland Newspapers

You remember them. The faces of countless immigrants which passed before your eyes on the screen in social studies class or on public television documentaries. Thousands of immigrants whit a foreign look about them, wearing everything they owned on their backs. Upon their approach to Ellis Island the camera panned as they stared in amazement at the Statue of Liberty. This was what American stood for: hope and opportunity. Here in America they would

Well it seems that irony is not a foreigner in America. And though one would expect to see hungry and homeless people on the inner city streets of New York or downtown Chicago, the homeless are not exclusive. They exist in the suburbs and they are here in Lake County. Recently, there has been what appears to be a media blitz on the homeless in our nation. Everywhere you turn someone is talking about "squatters." After a while, you hear about it so much that is just becomes everyday's news.

Weil it's a shame that homeless people got themselves into that situation. Maybe one day one of them will win the lottery. Wouldn't that be nice. Or maybe...one day they will all just go away.

Vara Aiyappa, director of Community Case Workers for Catholic Charities of Lake County says that they have been helping the homeless for over 45 years but in the last several years they have experienced a large increase in the number of cases they receive. "The problem is becoming critical, especially for the handicapped," she states.

"The homeless won't leave. If we do not find a solution they will eventually get on public aide permanently and will be supported by taxpayers. We'll pay for that family for years and years. These people, with help and training, can become productive citizens and eventually pay back their share with taxes," Aiyappa ackled.

Catholic Charities is one of several organizations trying to help solve the problem of the homeless in Lake County. They provide both an emergency shelter program from one night to one month for those with immediate housing problems, (Alyappa states that many people who become homeless are there as a result of a sudden problem), and in October they will be starting a transitional program to give families the opportunity to reestablish themselves with ample support from individualized caseworkers. The transitional participants will average a three month stay.

"Just housing the homeless is not providing them a good service," she states. "If case management is not incorporated as a part of the solution, it just ends up like a revolving door with the people back on the streets." The kinds of casework they provide, to name a few, include employment and educational counseling as well as family counseling for abuse and divorce situations.

The problem is not going to go away by itself, perhaps it is critical to examine the numbers. Doug Benson, president of the Lake County Coalition for the Homeless states that coming up with a number has been difficult. "This will present a real challenge for the Census Bureau but they have committed to putting forth a special effort to come up with accurate numbers. The largest number of homeless do not identify themselves. They live in their cars, the streets, and are also living with relatives/friends temporarily.

Starting in February of 1988, Benson, together with the other Lake County agencies, designated one intake worker to keep the demographics on all reported homeless in the county. From February 1988 through December 1988 the total number of homeless was 2,075.

Benson recently presented a Comprehensive Homeless Assistance Plan for Lake County at a symposium. In it, he highlighted several crucial points about this ongoing crisis. Among them he noted that Lake County has the sixth highest level of disposable income in the nations. It is one of the fastest growing areas in the country, regarding population growth, housing and new job creation. This has caused the rental market to escalate and that combined with the lack of affordable housing for two income families poses a real threat to their economic security.

Benson's biggest complaint is that the county does not have one agency which coordinates services for the homeless. "There is no coordinated system in Lake County to match the needs of the homeless and potentially homeless with existing available services." He indicates that the need for immediate, concrete services is critical.

A sense of community is one way in which citizens of Lake County can help to serve the homeless. One group, PADS, has really blossomed since it's inception. PADS stands for "Public Action to Deliver Shelter." It is a seasonal overnight program which serves the homeless. It was started in December of 1987 by Wesley Free Methodist Church in Waukegan. They saw the need to establish (Continued on page 38)

Introducing Adult Mental Health Services.

Change isn't easy at any age. And sometimes dealing with the challenges of growing older can become overwhelming.

To help you get through those tough periods of adjustment, Victory Memorial Hospital has created an innovative new mental health unit for adults

Our unit offers two distinctive programs; one for adults, and another-the first of its type in Lake County-for seniors. Both programs follow individualized treatment philosophies. They are based on a holistic approach to patient recovery, promoting self-help and the return to a healthy lifestyle. The home-like atmosphere, and warm, supportive environment, set the stage for programs designed to meet the physical, psychological and spiritual needs of each patient. And the unit's in-hospital setting allows patients access to any of our medical services.

Growing pains don't end with adolescence, but with our help they don't have to go on forever.

County to seek legal opinion for Cultural Arts Center

y BILL SCHROEDER

Lakeland Newspapers
A legal opinion will be sought by the golf course committee of the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. on whether a cultural arts center can be located on 58 acres the county owns at Center St. and Rtc. 45, Gages Lake, adjoining Bras Loch Golf

Dist 5 County Board Rep. James Dolan of Libertyville added an amendment to find out whether the district can legally accept buildings to be erected on the site, which has been determined to be too small for expansion of Brac Loch to 27 holes.

County Board Chairman Norman Geary of Grayslake, who offered the legal opinion motion, called adoption of the motion a "good sign" that the arts center project, originally proposed by the Grayslake Development Corp., is moving Suff opposition to the arts center at Brae. Lock became evident during discussions following a presentation by architect Forrest Wendt who revealed a land plan calling for a small theater of 400 seats, a "music hall"-type theater of 2,000 to 2,500 seats and an outdoor amphitheater with room for 10,000 spectators.

The plan, as outlined by Wendt who is donating his services at this point, also includes extensive parking and wetlands, and a botanical garden. The main entrance would be on Center St., with extra parking available at the Lake County Fairgrounds across Center St.

Included in the site conception is a large retention basin needed to control flooding problems at Brae Loch and provide a ready water source for watering greens and Geary immediately clashed with Dist. 4 County Board Rep. Jim Fields of Antioch, an old political foe, who countered that he is in favor of keeping the 58 acres for expansion of Brae Loch, "It's a gorgeous piece of properly," exclaimed Fields, who originally opposed purchase of Brae Loch by the district.

"I disagree with Mr. Fields. I think the arts center is a wonderful idea. Our county needs something like this. It's in the geographic center of the county, and it's located between the college and the fairgrounds," Geary declared.

Dist, 6 County Board Rep. C. Richard Anderson of Barrington, president of the forest preserve district, said it is necessary for the golf committee "to release" the site. He said a lease arrangement would be appropriate for another entity to acquire use of the land from the county.

Edward Surroz, GDC president, said it is envisioned that the district would have full control and say-so over the center-"Just like you do now with the golf courses."

Both Fields and Dist. 2 County Board Rep. Matt. Miholic of Waukegan suggested that the center advocates "look at other locations.

Surroz bristled in response: "I'm not going to run in any more circles. The aris center should be right where we're talking about. All we're asking for is an opportunity. If this isn't the place, to hell

County solid waste plan 1st to comply with

by PAM NASLUND

Lakeland Newspapers At luncheon sponsored by the Greater Lincolnshire Chamber of Commerce, Verna Clayton, mayor of Buffalo Grove, and Jeannie F. Becker, a consultant to the Lake County Joint Action Solid Waste Planning Agency, were introduced to explain details of the final three-volume plan adopted by the agency at it's August meeting. Clayton remarked that she and Becker were late to the luncheon after presenting the plan for action by the Lake County Board. The item had not come up on the agenda at the board's morning meeting before they were required to leave for the luncheon. Jim Dolan, vice president of the Lake County Board, later confirmed that the plan had indeed been approved Tuesday.

"The plan is the first in Illinois to comply with the planning and recycling act." The Illinois Solid Waste Management Act of 1986 requires the 18 largest counties in Illinois to develop solid waste disposal plans by 1991. She added that since Lake County's plan is the first to be completed, it sets the standard for all subsequent plans.

Lake County commercial, industrial and residential wastes are currently generated at the rate of 2,000 tons per day. Until recently, the majority of this waste has gone to landfills. Under will be handled by four enue generated by selling strategies in an integrated solid waste management, the cost of the facility to system.

While waste volume reduction and recycling are not yet mandatory, other parts of the plan will be soon. By July of next year, it will be illegal to dispose of lawn and garden debris in landfills. Municipal or regional composting centers are better alternatives than home composting, Becker said, since composting is more demanding than generally believed. Unfortunately, presently licensed composting sites are not nearly adequate to handle the amount of material anticipated when next year's deadline falls.

The plans calls for a waste-to-energy mass-burn incinerator facility is to be accommodate 45 to 50 percent of the county's solid waste. The electricity generated will probably be sold to Commonwealth Edison, but that commit-plan.

the new plan, solid waste ment is not final. The revthe electricity will reduce within the range of operating current landfills.

The final component of the system is landfilling, which will be used for waste than cannot or is not recycled or burned, includ-ing "excess peaks" in solid waste collected.

The cost per household for the system is projected at $8 per month to construct, operate and maintain the facilities, and to pay for public education. Special programs for hazardous household materials will be included to deal with used tires, used oil, chemicals and pesticides that can cause problems in landfills.

An implementation agency must be formed now that the plan has ben approved by Lake County. built, at a cost of about That agency will be formed $100,000,000 which will by an intergovernmental agreement between participating municipalities and will assume responsibility for the execution of the solid waste management

Board adopts flat rate for hospital transport

by BILL SCHROEDER Lakeland Newspapers

Fox Lake trustees adopted a flat rate hospital transportation charge designed to clarify billing procedures and minimize hardships on senior citizens.

Residents will be charged $170 for nonemergency transportation to a hospital. Non-residents will be charged $400.

Trustee Kenneth Hamsher stressed that the new rates are reasonable and lower than many neighboring communities, some of which charge a flat $500 per trip or more.

Trustee Darwin Follman emphasized that the new flat rate fee is "strictly for hospital transportation. This is not the first aid calls. Of course, there's no charge for an emergency."

Follman further pointed out that the Fox Lake Rescue Squad maintains the fastest response time in the area - less than five minutes - in what is the biggest area in Illinois, 24 square miles.

The Fox Lake squad averages 1,400 calls per year.

The rate structure will be formally implemented with an ordinance to be adopted Sept. 18.

Dist. 34 attendance up, less attend Antioch High

Student enrollment is up at all Antioch area grade schools except for Emmons. Enrollment at the beginning of this school year at Antioch Community High School is a down over the reported enrollment at the 'beginning of the 1988 school year.

According to Antioch Dist. 34 Grade School Supt. Donald Skidmore, the school district's student enrollment is at 1,706. Last year at this time, 1,630 students were enrolled in the grade school district, showing a hike of 76 students this year.

"I expect that number to rise to 1,730 before the end of the year," said Skidmore. At St. Peters Catholic School, the student count has risen by eight students, with an enrollment of 239. Last year at this time, there were 231 students going to St. Peters.

At Grass Lake Grade School there are two more students attending classes this year. Counting the SEDOL students, the enrollment is at 259 compared to 257 students at this same time last year.

Faith Evangelical Lutheran School has 12 more students in attendance. The student count at the beginning of this school year is at 125 compared to the count last year which was 113. Emmons Grade School student enrollment is down slightly with 214 students attending classes. At the beginning of the last school year, there were 218 students at Emmons, a drop of four students.

Antioch High School's student count shows a considerable drop with 1,662 students at the fall start. Last year, there were 1,716 students filling the classes at ACHS, a drop of 54 students.

Ring and crew ready for new blacktopping

by GLORIA DAVIS Lakeland Newspapers

According to Antioch Twp. Hwy. Commissioner Mark Ring, his township highway crew has finished preparing most of the 24 roads in the township slated for blacktopping.

Skokie Valley Asphalt got the bid for the $68,640 blacktop job and "they can start anytime," says Ring.

The highway department prepares roads for resurfacing by laying an eight-inch by 22-foot gravel surface, allowing for an 18foot travel surface and two-foot road shoulders wherever there is the proper right of way.

The township also corrects any drainage problems and cuts down any trees that are impeding travel and resurfacing.

"When this job is done, these roads should be virtually maintenance free for the next 10 years," said Ring.

The roads slated for resurfacing include some complete subdivisions like Sunshine Subdivision in Channel Lake.

"The weather will determine if the resurfacing will be completed before the snow flies," added Ring. Otherwise the job will be finished in spring.

Meanwhile, as fall is the introduction to winter and the midwest snows, Ring and his crew are always preparing for snow plowing which " is a major part of a highway commissioner's job," said Ring.

half ton diesel dump truck, the highway department now has a six-truck fleet ready for plowing.

The cost of the new truck was $30,135. It will cost approximately $6,000 to add the plow, the sander and insulation.

What area families did on their summer vacation

(312)395-5380

The Don Fechtner family did a lot of traveling during June, July and August. The first excursion was a visit to relatives in Minnesota. (Incidentally, whenever I hear mention of Minnesota it reminds me of a joke told to me by Pat Sherwood. Remember, Pat, the one featuring Ollie, Olga and the duck hunters?) To continue-Marc and his mom, Judy, traveled to Minnesota without hubby/daddy, Don. Then, after Marc spent a week at camp in Plymouth, the whole family toured the towns around Lake Michigan and also visited Amish country in Indiana. While in Indiana, Don purchased a new toy, and what a toy-a 34-foot motor home. Looks to me like all the happy campers in the big Grass Lake area camping group will soon form a caravan of passes the globe. While the Fechiners were in Indiana, they visited Indiana Beach State Park and took a shuttle boat to a nearby waterpark that featured a boardwalk of gift shops and many amusement rides. This first part of the Fechtners' travels was simple. Read on to learn about the experiences of Judy, the "Rubber Lady."

Recently, Marc and Judy Fechiner took off on a lone voyage to Wichita, Kan. While there, they had occasion to visit with Judy's sister, Lynne Stephan, her sister, Stephanie Anderson from California, and her brother Christopher Anderson from Oklahoma. Judy's folks were visiting the area at the same time, and naturally Judy and Marc enjoyed spending time with them. While there, Judy had a few mishaps. One day, she fell she is made of rubber be-surprised the scrapes and pulled neck muscles were all she ended up with. I reminded her that when we played volleyball she spent more time falling to the floor than hitting the ball. This is why I truly believe

Judy Fechtner's very own sister, Stephanie Anderson, had occasion to meet both of these famous people. Stephanie is a writer, and a while back had an interview. with Stallone concerning the possibility of working on a future production. This particular opportunity did not pan out for Stephanie. More recently, Stephanie is one of four people being considered as part of the production company for an up-coming movie for Martin Short, Judy, remember to give us a follow-up story on this.

St. Peter Council

Another year has begun

for St. Peter Council of Catholic Women. The meetings are held in the church hall the first Tuesday of each month. The meetings begin at 7:30 p.m. with benediction at 7 p.m. in the church prior to the meeting. Some of the activities the Council of Catholic Women are involved in-church cleaning, the bingo kitchen, nursing home Christmas party, immunization inoculations, bazaar, rummage sale and bake sales. The school and church has received a lot of extras due to the hard work of these women. If interested in joining, dues are $3 for the year. The officers of the council are Judy Kozinski, president; Ann Smith, vice president; Nancy Neckerman, secreat Grass Lake School and would like to be a part of the program, please contact one of the following TAP coordinators-Sally Hiller, Debbie Mozal, Pat Santiemmo or Liz Schmehl. Or you can call the school and ask to have your name forwarded to the coordinators. The program has had excellent response and the school and coordinators would like to thank everyone for their enthusiastic reception to this new program.

My hellos this week go to Joanne Bergl, Julie Pictrzak, Jean Lama, Wayne

Olsen, Joan Pricolo, Alice Waldweiler, John Boerman and Kathryn (Bobbie) Schremser, You've been mentioned, now call me with those terrific tidbits! tary; and Debbie Thelen, treasurer.

Etc., etc., etc. . . .

There are observant people in our area and unobservant people. I understand that Carol Stengel fits into the second category. Am I right, Carol? A little birdle told me that Carol was recently planning to take a group of friends on a boat ride to one of our local restaurants located on the water. She quickly changed her mind when a friend told her the restaurant had been closed for more than two years. Carol, you should have gone anyway-at least it would not have been crowded and you could have had choice scating!

Since my own children are well beyond their kindergarten years, I often forget how innocent, trusting and, also, apprehensive a five-year-old is the first day of school. As the kindergarten class lined up at Grass Lake School under guidance of teacher Norma Rubash the morning bell rang loudly. I heard a little boy ask, "What does that mean?" I wanted to chime in with, "It means school is over for the day and you can go back to the arms of your mother!" Instead, I heard myself saying, "It means it is time for school to begin." It was hard not to hug him as he looked so lost and scared. However, I knew instantly he was in good hands as I watched Norma hovering protectively over her new 1989-90 kindergarten charges. Life goes on-even when the Lizard would like to slow it down for even a short time.

Letter To The Editor

Reasons for development Editor:

Your newspaper published a story "Old Pine Tree Forest Faces Developer's Saw, Ax," on July 7, and an item called "Pine Trees Go" in your "Briefs" column of the Antioch News-Reporter on Aug. 25. We were disappointed that the writer, unnamed in both cases, failed to present the complex issues surrounding the case or state any reasons WHY the Antioch Village Board "unanimously voted to allow development of the entire 11 acres" of the Zimmerman property

1. As a result of an investigation requested by the village board, 75 percent of the trees were classified by the Illinois Dept. of Conservation not expected to have life spans beyond 10-15 years. Because the stand was planted as a Christmas tree farm and was not properly maintained to preserve trees, the growth is dense. In many cases trunks are largely bare of any branches for approximately two-thirds of the way to their tops. Removal of trees to thin the stand at this time would not lead to preservation of the stand because trees under stress aren't able to cope with change, especially if it is rapid. When asked if the area should be designated as a "conservation area," the District Forester said, "No," because the stand should not be viewed "as a long term project.

2. During the last 12 months, board actions have given preliminary approval to the Zimmerman project and thus final engineering plans were completed based on this approval. A donation or purchase of nearly one-half of the project would cancel the project and thus effectively reverse permission to proceed

Changes in our ordinances and practices, such as additional "walk-throughs" of properties being considered for development, are warranted to identify desirable park or conservation areas earlier in Antioch's approval process for subdivisions and planned unit developments. Committees currently are working to meet this need. However, at no time does incomplete, one-sided reporting serve the public good.

Seeking petition names

The Antioch Twp. Property Owners Assn. is conducting a drive to collect signatures against condemnation of property in unincorporated areas by the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist., in an effort to acquire that property.

Roger Secrist, president of the property owners association, says that they have gathered 4,000 signatures on a petition to be presented to Gov. James Thompson soon.

The land owners are urging that the forest preserve district buy property in the fair open market place instead of condemning it for acquisition.

In answer, members of the forest preservce district claim that owners of land that goes into condemnation proceedings get a fair market value

Parkway

It's good news that a proposal to turn the controversial Rtc. 53 extension into a parkway as an alternative to the traditional six-lane superhighway is attracting attention. And the proposal is getting the attention of influential persons and organizations like the Northern Illinois Planning Commission (NIPC) which has put parkways on a Corridor Planning Council meeting scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 20, at Lake Zurich Village Hall.

Current plans of the Illinois Dept. of Transportation (IDOT) have Rtc. 53 knifing through central Lake County to a point near Grayslake and its gently rolling, open countryside--- and 2,800 acres of wetlands.

We think the parkway proposal offers a reasonable, rational alternative to the polarized viewpoints of the hell-bent developers and highway builders, and "no way" open spacers.

One of the intriguing aspects of the parkway plan is the prospect of greatly reduced construction costs. Savings are a certainty with four lanes instead of six, elimination of cloverleafs and use of a lighter roadbed through elimination of

The North Barrington Area Assn. Inc. has initiated an education program to acquaint local residents with the features of parkway-style highway construction. The concept has been utilized for years in congested areas along the east coast, but is foreign in the Midwest to political leaders and even construction engineers. A big selling job for parkways most certainly is needed. Jack Honomichl, NBAA vice president, is hopeful that there will be an out pouring of public interest in the parkway alternative with resulting pressure on politicians and IDOT.

IDOT has started a $1 million environmental study of the Rtc. 53 corridor. It could be that the only way to build a new highway through the environmentally sensitive area will be to utilize the parkway concept.

A parkway will preserve the beautiful semi-rural character of central Lake County and the communities through which Rte. 53 will pass---Long Grove, Kildeer, Hawthorn Woods, Mundelein and Grayslake. It's an exciting proposal that looks more attractive all the time.

LONG OVERDUE COOPERATIVE PLANNIN

Letters To The Editor

Paying more, getting less

Several weeks ago I read a letter to the editor written by an unhappy taxpayer from Fremont School Dist. 79. It seems she was against the proposed increase in the education fund rate because her taxes were already too high.

I, too, am unhappy about the increase in my latest tax bill—therefore, I am going to vote for the increase in the education fund rate. That may sound contradictory, but if the taxpayers look into the facts they will see that it isn't.

In order to operate Fremont School, the board of education issued working cash fund bonds (borrowed money). The payback on these bonds is costing me as a taxpayer more than the proposed tax increase. I am actually paying more money and getting less for it. Some of my tax money is being used to pay interest. I would rather see that money used to reinstate a previously cut program.

We owe it to the children to do what is best for their future. Voting for the increase in the education fund rate will do that—and my taxes will be lower!

Janet Hartkopf Mundelein Costly bond issue

Editor:

The Lake County Forest Preserve Board spent $25,000 of public money lobbying the recent session of the Illinois General Assembly to defeat (by one vote) Sen. Geo Karis' bills from coming out of committee.

These bills would have required a twothirds vote of the forest preserve board for condemnation of property and a referendum vote by the people of Lake County fccapital expenses incurred by buying land, Following that, arrogant Mike Granam, on Aug. 18, proposed at a meeting of the Lake County Forest Board that bonds be issued up to $120 million, the full extent of the present bonding power! This was turned down and they eventually voted $80 million, chosen primarily for the purchase of approximately 5,000 acres of land.

All this money is to be raised without the people of Lake County having anything to say about it. In fact, it was hinted that it was to be accomplished before anything could be done about it.

All we have to say is that if the people of Lake County want their taxes raised in this manner without putting out of office next election those who voted for this huge appropriation, they deserve their tax (Continued on Page 10)

Open meetings abuses

When the Illinois Open Meetings Law was enacted more than a decade ago, one of the unanticipated results would be the proliferation of secret or closed door meetings, cuphemistically known as "executive sessions." The law is intended to make public business public.

Indeed, so-called "executive sessions" are so common with local village councils and school boards that sessions behind closed doors are being built into preplanned agendas.

· Although the Open Meetings Law provides legitimate exemptions, literally making secret meetings legal, we can't help but feel that the exemption is being abused. It is quite common for elective bodies to adjourn behind closed doors in the middle of a meeting attended by three or four dozen citizens and not reconvene for an hour and a half. We think this is abusive. While quite legal and perhaps necessary, the practice of leaving taxpayers twiddling their thumbs when they turned out to see their local government "in action" is discourteous and counter productive to inter-active reporters who cover dozens of public meetings every month, we're convinced there has to be a better way to utilize the executive privilege.

One of the "better ways" with which we are familiar is the policy of the Fox Lake village council to convene in executive session at the conclusion of the regular meeting and a portion devoted to audience participation. This way citizens aren't inconvenienced and the aura (or should it be the aroma?) of secrecy is removed.

The Open Meetings Law provides for closed deliberation on matters dealing with land acquisition, personnel and pending litigation. The law states that the decisions must be made public upon reconvening of the regular meeting. We have no problem with this. What we think should be stopped is the practice of adjournment of a stated meeting 30 minutes after its start for periods as long as several hours behind closed doors. This is a gross miscarriage of the Open Meetings Law exemption.

Voters ought to demand better treatment from the elective officials where our complaint applies.

Cruise spells family fun for Elsburys

by BILL SCHROEDER

"An experience of a lifetime," is the way Sophie and Milford K. Elsbury described a Caribbean cruise sponsored by Lakeland Newspapers they took in celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary with five sons and their wives.

"There wasn't a cross word the whole time. Our entire seven days aboard ship was a celebration," exclaimed Mrs. Elsbury, a retired district manager for World Book Encyclopedia.

Milford, retired warehouse manager for George F. Doyle Distributing Co., Waukegan, admitted that he enjoyed cruising on a luxury liner like the Costa Riviera as much as deer hunting near the family cabin in the north woods, his favorite pastime for years.

Mrs. Elsbury said as soon as she read about the cruise in her hometown Lakeland Newspaper, "we knew what we wanted to do for our 50th anniversary." Because of the size of their party and the occasion, they were able to arrange a special late summer sailing. The Elsburys met their sons and daughters-in-law at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., and then the fun began.

Making the trip were Kenneth and Barbara of Dallas, Michael and Lois of Wildwood, Jim and Lynn of Golden, Colo., John and Nancy Jo of Peck, Idaho, and William of Phoenix, who is single.

What are they going to do for an encore? "Maybe take our 11 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren on a cruise for our

The Druce Lake couple decided they're not going to wait another 10 years for another cruise reunion like they did their first. "May we'll be cruising again in two or three years," Mrs. Elsbury beamed.

SUMMER FUN-Judge and Mrs. Jack Hoogasian are looking forward to their annual Wyoming trek, where they spend a week at an Indian reservation working with rehabilitation volunteers. "I hate to paint, but that's probably one of the things we'll be doing," laughed the white-haired jurist. Volunteers clean, paint, do carpentry work and other odd jobs for needy families. The Hoogasians will live in a tent.

WETLANDS PATROL—Congress-man Philip M. Crane (R-12th) indicated that he will take a look at the staff needs of the undermanned Chicago Dist. office of the Army Corps of Engineers. The 12person office is getting inundated with wetlands problems, the bulk of them in Crane's north Cook-Lake-McHenry County district

Typically, builders and developers will plow under or bury an environmentally sensitive wetland, then plead ignorance like the little boy with his hand in the cookie jar if they're caught. The Chicago office has jurisdiction in 18 counties of northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin. There's no way this small staff can keep up with mushrooming growth. And they've got a lot of other things to look after besides wetlands.

BOILER STARTER-Jeff Zgonina of Long Grove acquitted himself nicely as a starter in the defensive line of Purdue last weekend in the Boilermakers' season opener. The former Carmel High All-Stater bounced around his freshman redshirt year between defensive end, linebacker and offensive positions. The Purdue coaches finally settled on a down line position for Zgonina because of his pass rushing ability. Jeff loves to sack opposing quarterbacks.

ONE MAN'S FAMILY-Even if you were born in September, winter can come carly, as it was in the case of daughter Jill who received a pair of ski boots for her birthday. Fall has hardly begun and she's already anxious to get on the slopes to try out her new boots.

Politically Speaking

by JOSEPH SOULAK Lakeland Newspapers

It's true! State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) of the 31st Dist. is an insomniac.

"Three to five hours of sleep a night is been all I've needed for years," said the spry, aging ma-tron of Illinois politics. "God has given me the energy to work and spend long hours awake."

What does Geo-Karis do with the waking hours she is not actually plying her political or legal Reading! That's what trade? makes her one of the most capable legislators in Springfield.

Lake County State's Atty. Fred Foreman still hopes lightening will strike and slate him for state office next year.

He is crushed, but not disillusioned, that Republican gubernatorial candidate Jim Edgar did not pick him for a running

That leaves Foreman hoping to be drafted for some other office, even the Appellate Court.

"I'm available," Foreman confided to friends at a long-planned $50-per-person fund raiser earlier this week in Gurnee. He says he has the finances, campaign organization in place and the state support of some party chairmen.

Until early December, when nomination petitions can be filed, Foreman believes the political picture will remain fluid. He thinks his tough stance on crime and drugs, which is a popular issue today, will make him a viable candidate for some office.

"I'm not going to run without being asked," he said of talk to the contrary making the rounds. "I've always been a team player," he said going back to his days at Warren Twp. High School. He started on the 1966 championship football team, but was the sixth man (power forward) on the Blue Devil basketball team However, he started in the game against Grant High School that gave Warren the Suburban Conference cage championship

Along with a his hat there is on the wall a framed saying that Nash repeated over and over again while covering the Illinois legislature, Waukegan Common Council and dozens of other public bodies for the Waukegan News-Sun.

It is from a 1886 New York Surrogate Court decision.

'No man's life, liberty or property is safe while the legislature is in session."

Nash suggests this could apply to County Board, village board or school board in any town or village across the land, including Lake County.

COMING EVENTS: Saturday, Sept. 16-Annual Lake County Republican Federation membership meeting at the Meadows 21 (formerly the Northern Chalet), Libertyville, starting at 9:30 a.m. Guest speakers will be Congressman John Porter (R-Wilmette) of the 10th Dist. and DuPage County State's Atty. Jim Ryan. Tuesday, Sept. 381-1120. Thursday, Sept. 21-Citizens for state Rep. Robert Churchill (R-Lake Villa) of the 62nd Dist. fund raiser and reception. Last month, following a series of scathing articles about him, former Libertyville Twp. Sup. F. T. "Mike" Graham wrote a letter to the Chicago Tribune. Some of it is too good not to be reprinted.

"A Lake County radio once said, "It's commentator considered poor form down home in Alabama to let bad facts get in the way of a good story." I suspect the four Tribune staff reporters who contributed to the re cent two-part front-page series concerning Libertyville Twp. and me subscribe to that same philosophy. The extremely biased coverage of Illinois' first and only Township Open Space Dist. was absolutely unbelievable.

"The infant open space program has preserved nearly four time more land than the Lake County Fore Preserve Dist. has during the same three years,

"The Tribune staff calls this visionary land preservation program a 'shambles'! If that is true, how would they rank the one-quarter billion dollar give-away of public funds to lure Sears to Hoffman Estates?

"The reporting of the 'high' legal fees incurred by the township and paid to the township attorney were equally misleading. The reporters conveniently forgot to mention the dozens of lawsuits filed against the township by boastfully wealthy Jack Martin, along with Pat Connors, and other anti-open space opponents to promote their own self-serving political agenda.

"The Tribune staff had its own agenda and a preconceived story of what it wanted to write. The hours of interviews with the open space district's land planner, Lune Kendig, and Tom Hahn of Open Lands were scrapped.

"I am certain they hoped to find juicy kickback and payoff schemes and none was to be found in what I consider model government for all townships in Illinois to follow."

Confusing the real thing

I was amused at first, then disturbed, by Isabelle Kramer's letter to the editor August 18.

If we accept her ardent advocacy for "a worldwide rebirth of romantic love" at which time - she believes - That "divorce will be almost unheard of", we must infer that she has been naively deluded at some point in her life or merely misguided.

She is apparently unaware that the idealistic romantic love she so fervently embraces is the real culprit. Much too often it is romantic love itself that is responsible for what she thinks is a regrettable number of divorces, separations, and marital alienations prevalent in today's society.

Consider this for a moment: It is only when a person's inflated and thereby unrealistic conception of romantic love decreases, will the divorce rate decreases. Read that again.

Many years ago, Goethe said it succinctly and well: "Love is an ideal thing; marriage is a real thing. A confusion of the real with the ideal never goes unpunished.

Only when a pinch of romantic love the ideal thing - is now and then added to spice lives filled with repetitious, humdrum duties present daily in every marriage - the real thing - will the result perhaps be considerably more enjoyable, tolerable, and enduring.

Santayana said, "Life is not a festival or a feast; it is a predicament." Marriage - the real thing - is subjected daily to predicaments, however small or innocuous they may seem at the time.

So, to allow an excess or romantic love - the ideal thing - to intrude into or interfere with marriage - the real thing - as constantly as Isabelle Kramer would have it, must be judged unwise, unsustainable, and, eventually, mutually destructive.

If you are still dubious about the merits of Goethe's and Santayana's thoughtful insights into the quixotic natures of married human beings, ask any of your divorced or separated friends and your embittered; but still married acquaintances - male and female - for their opinions of those two memorable insights. Ask them if they too didn't indeed confuse the real thing with the ideal thing. I'll bet they did. And many still do. I confess I did.

Administrators get raises Editor:

As a taxpayer in Round Lake School Dist. 116, I am pretty tired of hearing how our district is in financial distress.

Our school board has voted to run a referendum to build 20 new classrooms at the elementary level. How do they propose to staff these additional rooms? Volunteers? Our school board claims numerous times each year that they might not be able to meet the monthly payroll. So how could they possibly afford the expense of additional staff?

Our teachers are working without a contract. Yet, all of our administrators. have new contracts and not one school board member nor district level administrator balked or cried "poor" when they approved thousands of dollars in new

This district only cries "poor" where our teachers are concerned, and where would this district be without our teachers?

Dean Milchell, owner of The American Forest Furniture Co. factory in Hartlord, Wis, and the company's factory store in Halnesville shows the high quality of the furniture products made by his company. Mitchell says he likes to show, customers the workmanship that goes into an

Mitchell family stands behind work

by KIM BOLTON Lakeland Newspapers

The American Forest Furniture Co. factory store in Hainesville offers today's furniture customers exactly what they are looking for—guaranteed high quality and low prices, according to owner Dean

"When I see a younger couple come in here and they're down on their hands and knees looking under the table, I know that they know what they're looking for," Mitchell said, adding that he is surprised at how young furniture shoppers are today.

Mitchell sells solid oak furniture in traditional and early American styles that is made from Wisconsin wood and backed by his two-year guaranty. He is so sure of the superiority of his product that he says he's glad to show prospective customers how solid wood furniture is made and explain to them what it is they should be looking for in a quality product.

The reason Mitchell is able to fully guarantee his furniture for defects for two years and be certain of its superior quality is that he is not only the distributor of the product but the manufacturer of the finished oak pieces. Mitchell and his two sons, Michael and Patrick, own The American Forest Furniture Co, Inc. factory in Hartford, Wis. They also distribute chairs and hutches for another comparable company in Georgia.

Offering a guaranty isn't possible for most furniture stores, according to Mitchell, because they don't manufacture the product.

"Basically what we're saying is during that period (two years), all the products will go through four climate changeshot, cold, humid and dry—and if there is a defect, it'll show up," Mitchell said.

Being a manufacturer also gives Mitchell and sons another edge on the competition.

They are able to custom build tables to fit customers' specifications of any size or hardwood available to them. In fact, the Mitchells just finished a black walnut altar table and cross for a Wisconsin

Name: Dean E. Mitchell

Age: 53

Business: The American Furniture Co., Inc.; Hainesville and Hartford, Wis.

Philosophy: "Listen to the customers and try to give them a quality product. Without them, I don't think our business can survive."

Mitchell's oldest son, Michael, who is now head of engineering and design for the company, was working part-time for American Forest Furniture when he learned it was being sold. Michael's fulltime job of six years was in the engineering department of Midas Muffler in Hartford, but woodworking was always his favorite hobby.

The youngest son in the family of seven children, Patrick, is now in charge of finishing and final assembly at the furniture plant. When the Mitchells purchased their company, Patrick was attending school and re-orienting himself to Wisconsin after living in New Orleans for six years and working on oil rigs in the Gulf of Mexico.

A native of Wisconsin, Mitchell is the former vice president of sales for Mayville Engineering, a material handling supply company in Mayville, Wis. He has brought his knowledge of sales and marketing to the furniture company and has relied on Michael, as well as books, trade magazines and trade fairs, to fine tune him on the specifics of furniture

Mitchell chose his Hainseville location in the Napa building at the junction of Rtes. 120 and 134 because it is a central, well-traveled point. He says he also relies heavily on advertising to bring people looking for high-quality furniture to him.

"We knew when we came down here that no one community was going to be able to support the store and we knew we'd have to rely on advertising to bring people in," Mitchell said.

Although the Hainesville store is a 180mile-a-day commute for the Pike Lake, Wis. resident, Mitchell says he decided to bring his product to Lake County after experiencing much success at home shows in the area last winter. Mitchell says he doesn't mind the commute so far and that he had to be at the store to establish the new business. But Mitchell has hired a full-time manager, Margaret Fritzinger of Libertyville, to take over much of the work.

Fritzinger hasn't been hired to make Mitchell's job easier. He is planning to open a second store closer to Chicago just as soon as he finds a location, and to add bedroom furniture to the selection in both. After the 'two stores are running smoothly, Patrick will move to Illinois to oversee operations because, like his dad, his real interest lies in sales and marketing.

Mitchell doesn't plan on letting his sons do all the work. He says he does plans to slow down, "but I don't think I'll ever

Brokerage firm serves investor one-millionth

Edward D. Jones & Co. joined an clite group when it announced its one millionth customer during festivities in St. Louis July 24-26.

Honored were Herman Wesse, 70, and David Wesse, 38, both of Chicago, as well as the Wesses' investment representative, Jim Regnier of Evanston, III. The Wesses became Jones' one millionth customer June 23 when they opened a joint account and purchased 100 shares of Hershey Co. stock.

Besides Jones, only five financial-services firms serve one million investors or more. However, Jones is the only firm in the financial-services industry that serves individual investors exclusively.

"For us, individual investors are first and foremost, and in our opinion that's the way it should be," said Jones' Managing Principal John W. Bachmann.

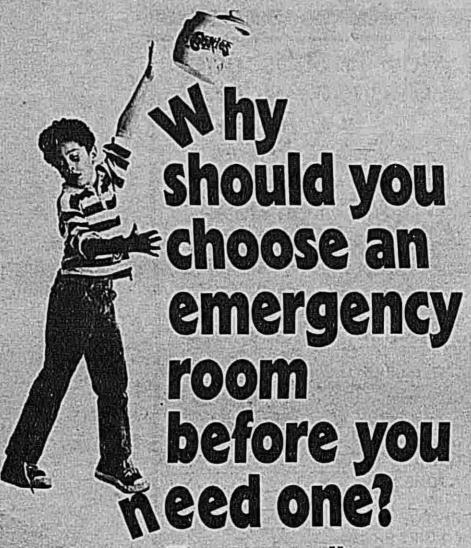

"Individuals, not institutions, own 58 percent of the common stock in this country and annually account for $2 trillion of investment capital, providing a financial base for the entre U.S. economy."

The local Edward D. Jones & Co. representatives are Bro D'Arcy at 404 Lake St., Antioch, and Bob Friederich at 83 W. Main St., Lake Zurich.

Kemper joins UAP

Agreements have been signed between the Kemper National Property & Casualty Cos. and the UAP Group, France's largest insurance company, to form a join company to market highly protected risk insurance in Europe. UAP will be the first European company to offer the risk insurance product.

Because all emergency rooms are not alike!

The Emergency Room at Saint Therese Medical

Bell's new station modeled after Wright switching station in Vernon Hills' Continental Exccutive Parke on Rtc. 60, not only will bring area residents improved telephone service, but a new view of some American architectural history.

The electronic switching station was designed in the "prairie style" made famous by architect Frank Lloyd Wright in the early 1900s. With its clean, horizontal design, overhanging roof and enclosed terraces, the building is particularly reminiscent of Wright's work in Chicago's Hyde Park neighborhood.

"We considered several designs and, along with the village and park developers, decided on the prairie model," said Stan Jozwiak, lations manager. "The building will house switching equipment to serve nearly 9,500 telephone lines for the growing Vernon Hills area. Its distinctive design complements the other buildings planned for the park," he added.

The 2,600-square-foot building was designed by Carol Ross Barney, a partner in the Chicago architectural firm Ross, Barney and Jankowski. The building will be constructed primarily of brick masonry, with a sloping roof made from a metal tile resembling cop-

Since the original inspirational for prairie architecture's horizontal lines and long vistas was the real prairies of the midwest,

Ryan, of the Chicago land-scape firm Jacobs, Ryan and Associates, planned the acre surrounding the switching station to include prairie grasses. The native grasses will grow up to three feet high around the building and will be bordered by poplar trees and indigenous perennial flowers.

Under a village ordinance, grass cannot be allowed to grow higher than 18 inches, but Vernon Hills' trustees amended the ordinance to exempt prairie grasses authorized by the village

Owner-involved construction may solve affordability crises

Years ago it was called "sweat equity" and was the last resort of cash-short blue collar workers desperate for a home of their own. More recently, families who built all or part of their home were referred to as "do-ityourself home builders."

Today there is a new name as their own general contractor and doing all or part of the work themselves.

The big reason for the renewed interest in owner-involved construction is that homes are becoming increasingly less affordable because prices have risen much faster than incomes. According to the Federal Bureau of Census, median family income increased 183 percent in the last 16 years while median home prices rose by 249 percent.

As a result, after 40 years of increases, the percentage of American families who own homes had declined every year since 1980, going from 65.6 million to 63.8 million in 1986.

In addition to soaring construction costs, many mortgage lenders also made it increasingly difficult for first time home buyers to obtain financing by tightening their qualifica-tions, limiting housing costs to 25 percent of income compared to 33 percent two years ago.

The results of these financial pressures on younger families is that the traditional American dream of home ownership is be-

Assn. of Home Builders estimates one out of three home buyers is now turning to some form of owner-in-volved home building as a solution. Many of them are discovering that they can save on the construction costs and reduce down payment requirements by doing all or part of the work themselves.

One company that struction. pioneered the concept of owner-involved home building is Miles Homes. "We started in 1946, we recognized a need and over the years developed a line of custom pre-cut materials, educational programs and construction manuals. Along with financing and other assistance to make it easier for owner-involved home builders," says Mike Krafft of Miles Homes, locally based in Schaumburg. News, Views & Questions About Your Eyes

Robert L. Epstein, M.D., Director Illinois Center for Corrective Eye Surgery

QUESTION: Would you please explain to me what a cataract actually is?

ANSWER: A cataract is a clouding of the normally clear lens of the eye. This clouding, a natural aging of the lens in most cases, prevents light from passing through the lens to the back of the eye, or retina. Much like the lens of your camera focuses light on the film, the lens of your eye focuses light on the retina. If the front of your camera's lens becomes dirty or fogged, then the picture taken will be harv or blurred. the picture taken will be hazy or blurred.

Film Review

This reviewer has always been a little paranold about the murky depths of the sea, but not as paranoid as some of sick violent events that take place in the highly touted undersea film, "The Abyss."

Ed Harris, who has distinguished himself dramatically of late in such notable flicks as "The Last Witness," is completely wasted in this costly Spielberg-Lucas- type soggy adventure.

Here we have the romantic problems of a married couple of divers played by Harris and Elizabeth Mastrantonio, whose acting prowess is also wasted.

Taking a page from many Spielberg and/or Lucas reel epics, underwater aliens attack, which is all a bit much.

This aquatic spectacular turns out to be a short drink of water. Give it a short two stars out of five.

On Video

Since money often doesn't stretch far enough to allow us to entertain ourselves as we would like to, the home video recorder has been an amusement boon and a financial lifesaver.

We are all used to walking into a video store and trying to at least get on the list for the latest releases. If that's all we are using this electronic wonder for, we are missing a lot of entertainment never before available in our own homes, at the touch of the recorder's

Anyone who has access to a video store of the stature of a Blockbuster Video has worlds of the best entertainment, never before explored, awaiting them.

Forget trying to get the new releases, they're never in anyhow.

Rummage through the musical section. Paramount, MGM, 20th Century Fox and others have just released some of the best musicals ever made, from "Gentlemen Prefer Blonds," to the "Dolly Sisters."

Mystery lovers can ferret their way from "Murder on the Orient Express" and all the best of Agatha Christie, Ellery Queen, Perry Mason, etc. to the tongue in cheek "Cheap Detective," that has such stars as Peter Falk wending his way through a psucdo "Casablanca"plus plot.

Actually, most of the movies made since "Birth of a Nation" are now ready for home viewing.

No longer can a dissatisfied viewer complain that they don't make them like they used to, because they sure do, exactly like they used to, except for Ted Tumer of coursel.

Marriott gets 'Greased'

Lightnin' strikes at Marriott

by GLORIA DAVIS Entertainment Editor

Despite a rather spotty opening, the songs, dances and romances of the '50's-60's musical "Grease" have not been presented more pleasantly than in the newest production just opening at the Marriou Lincolnshire Theatre.

The always infectious rock and roll beat is more contagious than usual as this new group of young thespians takes an extremely enjoyable trip down Memory Lane to the do was bee-bop rhythms of that popular cra.

For the millions that saw the John Travolta-Olivia Newton John film extravaganza, the stage production has a cast of featured performers, with each "acting dog having it's day," as opposed to the Holly-wood version which was mainly a twostar vehicle.

The time-worn romantic question, "Can a cool cat make it with a vestal virgin?" is answered "of course" for the zillionth time in show business history.

One of the outstanding parts of Marriott's production is the set and technical designing, no mean job when it means carrying off a big-chorus Broadway musical in Marriott's limited space,

Two of the show's stars, Susan McGee and Brian d'arcy James, do nicely as Danny and Sandy of "Summer Night"

Susie McMonagle as Rizzo and Tony DiFalco as Kenickie are close to perfect in

The solos carried off by these four actors are superb from a voice and dramatic viewpoint.

The rest of the cast take turns stealing a scene here and there, with Alton White's "Teen Angel," a smasheroo and Kenicke's lead singing, plus that of the rest of the cast in "Greased Lightnin"," really electrifying.

Other show stoppers include Mc-Monagle's "Look At Me, I'm Sandra Dee" and "There Are Worse Things I Could Do;" "Those Magic Changes," lead by Sam Samuelson and all of the Pink Ladies and Burger Boys doing "We Go Together."

Rick Boynton as the nerdy Eugene and Lori Longstreth as Rah Rah Patty draw many of the play's yaks, while Sharon Sachs and Rob Helms make a cute semiperfect rock and roll deejay's voice, Loved the "roller" walks of Jennifer Chada and

The cute "Greased Lightnin'," the treadmill stage and the great choreography by Jim Corti, plus the execution of just about everything, make Marriott's production bound to be one of the best of the

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

Eighty-some years ago, a man named Henry Flagler had a dream. By 1912, $27 million poorer, his dream

"Flagler's Folly" was to build a railroad connecting Florida's mainland with Key West. It was to extend 113 miles across 29 islands, utilizing 41 bridges. Flagler's dream was short lived. A hurricane turned his creation into a mass of twisted metal shortly after it was completed.

The remains of the railroad to the sea was to be the bed of yet another man-made wonder, the overseas

Head south from Miami on Hwy. 1 about 40 miles to start your journey of Island hopping by car. You'll cross bridges as long as seven miles. On the right is the Gulf of Mexico; to the left is the Atlantic Ocean.

Your first town is Key Largo. Remember the old Bogart-Bacall movie? Speaking of Bogart, the boat used in the movie "The African Queen" is "anchored" in the parking lot of the Holiday Inn at Key Largo. For you divers, John Penekamp Coral Reef State Park is here. If you're the type who would rather stay dry, you can take a glass-bottom boat ride to the reef,

At the end of this waterway highway is Key West, the hometown of Tennessee Williams. Key West's residents have also included Calvin Klein, Dustin Hoffman and Vincent Price. Jimmy Buffet even started his career here.

The trip through the Keys offers such interesting sights as tiny deer the size of dogs, a shark research institute and some of the best deep sea fishing found anywhere. Not a lot of nightlife, though. You will find some outstanding restaurants. My favorite is Erik Jorgensen's at mile marker 85.5 under the bridge at Windley Key. Erik has taken his houseboat and furnished it with Peruvian rugs, handcarved leather-backed chairs, Copenhagen china and lots of crystal. Erik was once chef at Miami's Chez Vendome. Try the red snapper with the key lime ple for dessert.

Tomato Dumplings

1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter 1/2 cup finely chopped onlon 1/4 cup finely chopped green bell pepper

1/4 cup finely chopped celery

1 bay leaf

1 28-ounce can whole tomatoes, coarsely chopped, with juice (or equivalent amount of fresh tomatoes)

tsp. brown sugar

1/2 tsp. salt 1/2 tsp. dried basil or 1 Tbis. fresh (optional)

1/4 tsp. black pepper

In a medium saucepan, melt the butter and saute the onion, pepper, celery, and bay leaf until the onion ecomes transparent, about 5 minutes. Add the tomatoes and seasonings, bring to a boil and simmer, covered, for 3 minutes.

In a medium bowl, combine the first 3 ingredients for the dumplings. Cut in the cold butter with a pastry blender or 2 knives until the mixture resembles coarse oatmeal. Add the egg, milk and parsley. Blend lightly; don't overmix. Drop by tablespoonfuls (approximately 6) on top of the simmering tomatoes. Cover tightly, and cook over medium-low heat for 20 minutes. Do not life the cover during the cooking period. Serve in bowls, topped with butter.

Depke wins honor

WARREN TWP, ---Bob Depke is not one to mind late birthday presents. But Depke, one month after his 60th birthday, probably could not have considered the meaning of the honor he was about to receive. "It was a real surprise," Depke, a few days later, said. The surprise is a bright, shiny plaque given to Depke as he was selected as the recipient of the seventh annual Dave Durenburger Grassroots Government Leadership award, presented annually by the National Assn. of Towns and Townships (NATaT).

Police ready charge

LIBERTYVILLE—Twenty-three members of the Libertyville Fraternal Order of Police have been working without a contract since May 1. They were rebuffed by the village board rejection of a new two-year contract worked out with a federal mediator. They say this is an affront to their desire for equal, not less, pay as police in Mundelein and Vernon Hills and similarly-sized Lake County communities. The union will file an unfair labor practice charge unless the village board reverses itself.

Begins building

LAKE ZURICH—A 36-unit Lake Zurich townhome development is set to begin construction after a Lake County judge lifted a temporary stop work order. Associate Judge Wallace Dunn lifted the order on Landover Coroporation, the developers of Sandy Point, allowing for construction to begin immediately along the west shoreline of Lake Zurich. Officials from Lake Barrington and North Barrington had opposed the project because they said Lake Zurich's northwest sewage treatment plant cannot handle the additional sewage generated by the townhouses. Officials from both villages fear the new development will add to an already polluted waterway, leading to the Fox River.

Seek annexation

LAKEMOOR—Three owners of certain parcels of properties have banded together and have asked the village of Lakemoor to hold public hearings on their petition for annexation and zoning classifications that will give them the right to build areas for commercial, residential multifamily and light industrial districts. The hearing for their petition has been set for Monday, Sept. 25 at 7:30 p.m. in the Lakemoor Village Hall located at 234 Rand Rd. (Rtc. 120) in Lakemoor.

Sue fair

ANTIOCH — The land on which the Wilmot Speedway, owned by former Antioch Mayor Ray Toft, stands is leased from the Kenosha County Fair Assn. A flying fuel tank struck spectators at the raceway in August. Two of those victims are suing the fair association and the Kenosha County Board for $125,000. Claiming that the board was aware of excessive speed by the cars on the track, John Sezonov and his son Mathew, 6, Twin Lakes, have instituted the lawsuit. The elder Sezonov injured his leg and back while trying to shield his son Mathew who received a fractured skull and other serious injuries.

Hire village planner

MUNDELEIN—The third consultant to be hired by the village within the past several months will develop a comprehensive plan to carry the village into the year 2010. Thomas Dyke and Associates of Northbrook will spend 12 to 18 months developing the 20-year plan costing $30,000 for some of the predicted biggest growth years in the village's future. In past weeks the village hired a financial consultant to assist with village finances and an architectural consultant to plan remodeling of the village hall, Public Works Dept. and fire department. In coming weeks a fourth consultant will be retained to advise on connecting to a source of Lake Michigan water within three years.

$40,000 auto theft

LIBERTYVILLE—Professional car thieves cut three holes in the chain-link fence surrounding Bernard Chevrolet the morning of Sept. 8 and made off with a new van and parts removed from other vehicles worth $40,000.

Petition invalid?

FOX LAKE-It appears that Fox Lake Fire Protection District's petition for a 911 referendum for the implementation of a 65 cent surcharge is going to be declared invalid because only municipalities and counties can hold referendums on the system, according to Bob Bensco, 911 program director for the Illinois Commerce Commission. The Village of Fox Lake has also filed a petition for a surcharge of up to 65 cents. Residents in unincorporated areas will have different ballots from village residents, Bensco said. Unincorporated areas will have to vote on the county referendum in accordance with the legislation.

Plant price rises

LINDENHURST-Lindenhurst staff and officials expressed their dismay at this week's board meeting after blds for the sewer treatment plant expansion in that village came in at nearly $1 million higher than anticipated. Strand and Associates, the Madison, Wis. engineering firm handling the project, estimated the expansion to cost the village between $4.8 and $5.3 million, But, only two bids were received—the lowest one was for $6.12 million. Village Engineer John Heinz said, "It's a bidder's market." He and Strand's Phil Budde explained that there have been 13 major construction projects bid in Chicagoland in the past three weeks. They said the high demand for general contractors has jacked up the price. Lindenhurst's Village Board unofficially decided to accept the lower bid and not to re-bid the project for fear of getting an even higher bid, or none at all. The board must officially make its decision by the end of September in order for Lindenhurst's Sanitary Dist. to receive a $4.818 million low-interest loan from the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency's Revolving Fund Program.

Galdine gets 10

ANTIOCH — Nicholas Galdine, 43, Randall Twp., Wis., arrested in August at Galdine Electronics, Antioch for delivering cocaine, was sentenced to 10 years in prison in Kenosha County, Kenosha County Judge Bruce Schroeder also fined Galdine $100,000 and $20,000 in court costs on two charges of cocaine delivery, While Galdine was being arrested with $1 million worth of cocaine at Galdine Electronics by MEGS and the Antioch Police, Kenosha County raided his home in Randall Twp., finding $50,000 and drug paraphanelia. Kenosha County has seized his home in Randall. Galdine now will face trial in Lake County for delivering $1 million worth of cocaine to an undercoyer agent in Antioch.

Bidding bus barn

LAKE VILLA-Thi Dist. 41 Board of Education voted at its last recessed meeting to let bids on a new three-bay bus facility that has had two different groups of neighbors in an uproar. The first group is very happy now with the board's decision because they have moved plans for the facility from the originally proposed location at the Lake Villa Intermediate School, which is in their neighborhood, to an industrial site just southwest of the junction of Grand and Milwaukee avenues. But, neighbors in the vicinity of the new location at the Park Ave, industrial site say they don't mind the school district building a new bus barn, but they believe the industrial site in should have its own access road. Financing is the biggest problem and school district's can't legally build roads. So, the ball is in the court of village officials who are investigating a temporary shelter site for the homeless. Within two weeks there were over, 1,200 trained volunteers and 10 shelter sites.

PADS provides a place to sleep with dinner and breakfast served for homeless families and individuals in scattered sites throughout the county. It operates form Oct. 1 through April 30. Director Roscanne Mullen states that there is a lot of community involvement. Not just from the volunteers in the churches where the sites are located but also from the police. After 11 p.m. people coming into the sites need a police escort. The various police departments are notified of the locations and sometimes they help to transport them in emergencies. One police department, in Antioch, even brings in day-old sandwiches donated by the local White Hen.

Mullen states, "I'm opposed to permanent shelters because the people become too dependent on them. At PADS there is a different location every night. People have to work to get from site to site. It's an effort. We don't hand it to them on a silver platter. I believe that the effort really helps to build up the people's self-esteem." Any interested volunteers who wish to find out more about PADS may call (312)362-3381.

Recently, much publicity has been drawn to a program in which former President Jimmy Carter and wife Roslynn are involved in. Their organization is called Habitat for Humanity. It is a constructive step in solving the problem of low income housing availability. It takes a homeless or low income family and helps them to break through the cycle of poverty by providing them with their own home.

A group of concerned citizens in Waukegan, led by Julie and Jim Donavan and Christa Metcalf decided that they should do something for the homeless. They are in the process of starting an affiliate with Habitat for Humanity. "We're getting the word out," says Julie Donavan.

Habitat for Humanity is a non profit, non-denominational construction project for the homeless. It builds and rehabilitates houses for the poor, Land for new construction is usually donated or purchased initially through fundraisers. A Family Selection Committee, which includes volunteer members of local social service agencies then selects a family in

Once a family is selected they are expected to put in 500 hours of work on the house along with other volunteers. This philosophy is termed "sweat equity" and is critical to Habitat's program, An affordable monthly payment is then determined and that money goes towards building the next house with 10 percent going to fund internationally sponsored projects in Africa, Southern and Central America.

"We hope to take people to the next step after a shelter program. We want to give them their own home. It won't be a big house; most average around 1,000 sq. ft., but it will be built and clean. Presently, we are trying to gather up donated building materials," states Donavan.

They are now in the process of looking for a site in which they can either construct or rehab the first home. Any interested parties should contact Habitat For Humanity at (312)623-1020.

The faces of the homeless are similar to those of America's immigrants. Many are victims of circumstances which are beyond our comprehension. Most are in search of hope.

In 1903, a poem written by Ezra Lazarus was inscribed on a tablet in the pedestal of the Statue of Liberty. In it she is referred to as the "Mother of Exiles" and with "silent lips" she proclaims, "Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to breath free. The wretched refuse of your teeming shore. Send these, the homeless, tempest-lost to me, I lift my lamp beside the golden door!"

The lamp is lit in Lake County for the homeless. Hopefully, as our prosperity develops so too will our conscience continue to grow.

Golf course expansion topic on Sept. 29 agenda

Finance Committee and the Golf Course committee will be held at 9 a.m. Sept. 29 to tie down final details of expansion of Countryside Golf Course, owned and operated by the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist.

Golf Course committeepersons, meeting at Brae Loch Golf Course, Gages Lake, another Forest Preserve operation, debated whether to add nine holes next year, add 18 or do nine holes in 1990 with some preparatory excavation. The county owns sufficient land for a total of 36 holes at the Mundelein layout.

After airing alternatives, it appeared there was agreement to build nine holes next year because construction can be financed out of existing funds and operating profit.

eland Newspapers Illinois Gov. James Thompson has aled the mandatory AIDS testing for se applying for marriage licenses in Lake County Clerk Linda Hess is ased with the move, stating that Lake unty alone has lost over $15,000 in rriage license fees since the mandatory was put into effect two years ago. We lost a lot of money from people ng into Wisconsin to apply for their rriage license. I don't think mandatory ting is the most cost effective way to minate the AIDS problem in our thousands of dollars," Hess said. The governor's repeal is effective immediately.

"This is a public health issue. The only way to effectively deal with the AIDS problem is by public education," the clerk Hess added that all those applying for a marriage license will now be given a brochure explaining the dangers of the disease and what precautions to take.

According to Hess, the mandatory testing "really didn't prove to be that successful," She said the number of people testing positive for AIDS was very minimal over the past two years.

Glass Dictionary to hold countywide contest

by IRIS MAYFIELD Lakeland Newspapers

The 2nd countywide high school poetry contest, for all 9th, 10th, 11th, and 12th graders, is being sponsored by the College of Lake County's literary arts club, the Glass Dictionary.

Prizes include: 1st place, $35; 2nd place, $20; and 3rd place, $15. Twelve honorable mentions will each receive a certificate.

Winners will be announced in local newspapers and notified by phone. If a winner is an incoming freshman to CLC, she or he will be considered for a Glass Dictionary scholarship.

The deadline for entry is Oct. 16. A maximum of five poems may be submitted by an individual. Teachers are encouraged to make group or class submissions. However, individual students can submit on their own.

Typed manuscripts are preferred. Each poem should be on a separate piece of paper that includes author's name, phone number, name of high school, year in school, and name of teacher if the poem was written in a class.

All entries should be sent to Bob Sather, English Dept., College of Lake County, 19351 W. Washington, Grayslake, Ill.

The three judges; Iris Mayfield, Round Lake Beach, Aviva Monk, also Round Lake Beach, and Betty Siedlecki, Grayslake, have had their poetry published in a variety of literary magazines. Mayfield was editor of "Breakthrough," and "Anthology '83. A Gathering of Northern Illinois Poets. She was a reviewer for and member of the editorial board of "Fountain of Youth," a national college review magazine.

Monk was assistant editor of "Anthology '83, A Gathering of Northern Illinois Poets, and "Grassfield's Writers Anthology '84. She has given numerous readings in and around Chicago, and is often heard on Dial-a-Poem Chicago!

Siedlecki was on the edito ial staff of CLC's literary magazine, has given numerous readings in Lake County, and has published "Steps Of A Pilgrim."

The Glass Dictionary received 243 poems in their 1st countywide high school poetry contest. The poems were submitted by 114 students representing 14 high schools.

The schools were Antioch, Barrington, Carmel for Boys, Carmel for Girls, Deerfield, Grant, Grayslake, Lake Forest, Libertyville, North Chicago, Round Lake, Stevenson, Warren Twp., and Zion.

Teacher Dee Johnson of Warren Twp. had the most class submissions, a total of 63, followed by teacher Lynne Strutzel of Carmel for Girls with 44 submissions. James McCullough's Carmel for Boys students submitted 32 poems, while students of Barrington's Mr. Littwin entered 24 poems.

The 1st place winner, Jim Lundstrom, was a Barrington senior from Mr. Littwin's class, who won with the poem The Windowsill Cat. Second Place went to Amy Korytowski, a senior from Lynne Strutzel's class at Carmel for Girls, for her poem The Divorce. Third place was won by Ken Eldridge, a junior in Mr.

McCullough's class at Carmel for Boys, with his poem Thanksgiving Day.

Board of Realtors elects new officers, directors

The Lake County Board of Realtors elected 1990 officers and directors at its annual governmental affairs program at Country Squire Banquet Facilities in Grayslake.

New officers include Otto Sprenger of Sprenger Real Estate, president; Eve B. Lee & Assoc., vice president; Alex F. March of Baird & Warner, second vice president; David L. Fales of Re/Max Advantage, treasurer, and Mary Ann Bystol of First United Realtors, secretary. Officer's terms expire in 1990.

Directors elected include Donald E. Giarrante of Koenig & Strey, immediate past president (term expires in 1990); Fred Blauser of Century 21 Sunshine; Victor A. Rigoni of Hometruste Realtors; and Frank Tierney of Century 21 Frank Tierney. The terms of Blauser, Rigoni and Tierney expire in 1991.

Directors continuing in office are Thomas R. Cavalier of Century 21 Taylor & Seiler; Julian J. Diziki of Realty World Tiffany; Scott S. Lackie of Griffith, Grant and Lackie; and Terri Murphy of Re/Max Suburban. These directors' terms will expire in 1990.

The Lake County Board of Realtors has been serving Lake County property owners for 63 years, from 1926 to 1989.

len said it may clear up ne confusion arising m the belief that the nois State Lottery is viding schools with additional funding.

The pamphlet, published by the Illinois Assn. of School Boards, says "the Lottery provides little or no help for the schools."

Further, the pamphlet says that although it can be argued that schools receive more state funding than they would if there were no Lottery because the Lottery does help pay for programs and services, the school's share of state revenue has not increased since the Lottery's introduction.

According to the Illinois Assn. of School Boards, the state spent less real money on schools in 1988 than it did in 1979, In 1979, schools were given $2.13 billion of the $6.5 billion General State Revenue Fund. That means $.33 of every dollar in the fund went to education.

By 1988, schools received $2.87 billion of the $11 billion in the General State Revenue Fund. The per dollar figure dropped in nine years to $.26,

. In conclusion, the pamphlet says the lottery has not helped the schools as was originally intended and that public schools must be funded by a combination of state and local taxes.

Why 'Soft' Orthotics? Why 'Soft' Orthotics?

An orthotic device is a shoe insert that is customized to correct certain kinds of foot problems. There are rigid, semi-rigid and soft types of orthotics, and they are created from a variety or natural or synthetic materials.

The soft orthotics help to absorb shock, increase balance and take pressure off sore spots. They may be shaped over a plaster mold of the foot or molded by the foot itself in walking.

or molded by the foot itself in walking.

The soft orthotics are especially helpful to people with arthritis and others who have loss of protective fatty tissue on the side of the side of the foot. These compressible intents are bulkier than other types of orthotics, and they may require extra room in the shoe.

Your podiatrist can evaluate your particular foot problems, recommend appropriate reatment and fit orthotics if ndicated.

your family life Don't let TV run

By ROGER MUNNS

Some families, determined to have their daily "together" time, make a point arranging their schedules so that everyone gathers at supper. Then they turn on the news and ruin it all, according to a child development specialist.

"No matter how committed a family is to talking to each other, you can't do it when you've got competition from the 6 o'clock news," said Lesia Oesterreich, an Iowa State University extension specialist.

"It's slick, professional. If you've got this competition, you've got a handicap when it comes to family communication."

Not that a family shouldn't watch the news together, she said. In fact, Oesterreich recommends parents sitting down with the kids during news and other shows, with adults ready for questions. But family time and TV time don't mix, she said, because the television takes over. Television, she said, needs to be put in

Used in moderation, she said, the TV can be a valuable tool to introduce children to the world, to entertain and even to stimulate family discussions. "We've got to accept that television is part of life. We need to know how to use it. It's just a machine. It shouldn't take control of our lives."

Used to excess, she said, television is trouble, leading to glassy-eyed paralysis.

"I've seen children who literally do not know how to go to another child and say, 'Do you want to play?' They can learn some of that from TV, but many children can't translate what they know specifically to themselves," she said.

Striking the balance is the hard part, Oesterreich said.

One of the most important things to do is to know what the kids are watching.

"Parents need to take the initiative. One way is to sit down every Sunday with the television supplement and gather the kids around to plan TV viewing.

"Everybody selects what they want, but you as parents take the lead and say that's OK, that's not OK. In other words, you're saying you have control over the family and over the TV," she said.

Just as important, she said, is for the parent to be there during the kid shows. The parent's job, she said, is to watch the child, not the TV.

"Try to figure out if they're understanding what they're seeing. Try to ask questions to get them to think about what they've seen and to see if they understand.

"Children don't think logically and a lot of young children are confused or frightened by what they see," she said, including commercials. Older kids, 8- to 10-year-olds, might appear to understand but often come away with twisted perspectives on what they've seen.

"Be sensitive to examples of cultural diversity, spiritual values and political behavior. A few well-timed comments on your values often can accomplish more than a month of lectures," she said.

It's important, she said, for the adults to be open to questions, and to be ready with answers.

Since television should involve both the child and adult, it's difficult to schedule more than 10 hours of TV time a week for the kids, she said. But national surveys show that grade school children spend an average of about 20 hours a wcck.

"Most researchers feel that when you're in excess of 10 hours, you're starting to deal with real problems. You're having the children watch too much unsupervised programming, since it's hard for parents to sit down and watch that much with them.

"Besides, they need other things, physical exercise, reading, working on homework, and time to develop socially, playing with friends," she said.

Some families, Oesterreich said, give the television a holiday.

'It's something that families need to decide together rather than Mom or Dad just mandating. I like the idea of having a family conference and saying, Well, guys, it looks like we're watching too much TV. It needs a vacation. How long should we go without?"

If the television is to be given a holiday, she said, it's best to remove the appliance all together. (AP)

Lake Co. PADS program awarded $5,000 grant

The Hewitt Foundation has awarded Connection Telephone Crisis Intervention and Referral Service a $5,000 grant to support its Lake County PADS program.

The PADS program, Public Action to Deliver Shelter, offers shelter, food and hospitality to anyone in need during the cold weather season, Oct. 1 through April 30. Shelter sites are scattered throughout Lake County and staffed by trained volunteers from the community.

Hewitt is PADS first foundation grantor and brings encouragement at a time when the program is in critical need of funding. Numbers of the homeless in Lake County are increasing according to the Lake County Coalition for the Homeless, The Coalition collects data on shelter requests from human service agencies who provide services to the homeless. Public funding for these services has never been adequate from Connection's 17 years of experience.

three touchdowns.

"I don't normally throw touchdown passes, but today it just happened." Hendershot said after the game. "Matt is so big and fast and he has great hands I think I feel very comfortable throwing the ball to him." Hendershot said.

"They could have run that play all day on us Christensen is just to big for our smaller corners and safties, he's a great player." Antioch coach Del Pechauer said after the game.

After the Wildcats had taken a 13-0 lead Bart Nielson, came in to replace Hendershot and those two split time the rest of the game. "With our offense we need to have two quarterbacks, we our going to continue to use both Hendershot and Nielson together for the rest of the season." Coach Karl Jennrich said after the

The Wildcats seemed to move the ball up and down the field pretty easily no matter who was playing quarterback, but they fumbled the ball away four times and that kept the game within reach until late in the third quarter when Hendershot hit his third touchdown of the game to put it

On defense the Cats were outstanding allowing only one first down and zero points. Kevin Worthy and Matt Christensen were in the Sequiots backfield all day long holding the Sequiots to less than 100 yards of total offnese and creating a turnover of their own.

Libertyville and Warren will clash Sept: 16 while Antioch hopes to torpedo North Chicago's annual Navy Day celebration. All four teams find themselves in the middle of the North Suburban Conference pack at 1-1.

Sequoit spikers reach goal, top mighty Stevenson

When the 1989 volleyball season started, Antioch's squad had two goals.

"One was to beat Stevenson, the other to beat Libertyville," Coach Carla Thompson said.

The Sequoits accomplished goal No. 1 with a three-game win over the defending North Suburban Conference champion Patriots at home Friday.

After dropping the first game 15-9, Antioch rallied to win the second 15-12 and dominated the third contest 15-3.

Thompson said the team had been motivated since the beginning of the week to beat the Patriots since the home match was the only contest for the week.

"There was a lot of communication," Thompson said. She stated no one player carried the day, saying all the players were pretty even in their performances.

Heide Schmidke, setter, had 17 of 20 good serves and had 12 service points. Terri Farnsworth had 14 good hits and four good kills. "The first game the kids were really nervous and I think they psyched themselves out," Thompson said. But the Sequoits regained their composure in the second contest and the Anderson served the last two points.

win seemed to rattle the Patriots, Anderson, one of five seniors on then unaccustomed to losing to NSC foes.

Libertyville contingent, had 17 service

The Sequoits may face the Pats again this weekend when they travel to Prairie View for the Stevenson Invitational Sept.

The Sequoits host Mundelein Sept. 15 before the tourney begins.

Elsewhere in the NSC, Warren and Libertyville struggled in a three-game battle between two evenly matched teams which features long rallies, tremendous momentum swings and timely clutch hitting.

But this is just early September, so Warren and Libertyville fans had a chance to see a struggle worth remembering in the North Suburban Conference opener for both teams.

Libertyville won the two-hour battle 15-10, 14-16 and 16-14 before a large crowd in Gurnee.

"Going into the huddle we said we wanted to end it on a spike and we did," Libertyville Coach Chris Trzyne said.
Allison Marquardt did the honors for the points on the night, was 22 of 24 in hitting and had four aces. Also playing big roles in the Libertyville win were Jenny Croonburg, a junior, with 14 service points, 17 of 20 hitting and four aces.

Warren trailed 14-7 in the third game before Melissa Webster, a senior, led the Blue Devils on a five-point sprce. Stephanie Williams, a sophomore, served to tie the match at 14-14, sending the Warren fans into a frenzy.

"Give them a lot of credit. They played well," Warren Coach Felicia Moscatelli

The loss was Warren's first of the season after a three-match sweep of nonconference foes while Libertyville experienced a win for the first time.

The Wildcats fell in two games to New Trier and Maine South, but the Libertyville coach said she saw some bright spots against Maine South:

Warren, which is at the Stevenson tournament Sept., 16, looked like it was going to make it an early night in the first game, jumping out to a 9-2 lead behind the serving of Marnie Rettig.

Libertyville regrouped and outscored Warren 13-1 the rest of the game as the Wildcats dominated net play.

Libertyville had early leads in game two of 5-0 and 6-1 but Warren rallied this time as Katie Serdar tied it at 11. The Wildcats had leads of 13-11 and 14-13 but could not get that final point.

Four straight spikes and an ace gave Libertyville a 12-5 lead at the outset of game three.

"I was very proud of the way the girls played. They did not quit," Moscatelli Earlier, Warren completed noncconference play with a three-game win over Waukegan West. West won the first game 15-12 before the Blue Devils won 15-8 and 15-12.

Carmel seeks strong star

Mike Fitzgibbons knows how the Corsairs can start the East Suburban Catholic Conference season off on the right foot Sept. 15.

"We will have to play an error-free game against St. Patrick," Fitzgibbons said.

Both teams come into the conference opener in Mundelein with 2-0 records and strong defensive performances.

"They have a great, great defense. They have an eightman front and play high pressure defense, Fitzgibbons said.

Carmel's offense was the Carmel football Coach big play variety in a 21-7 win over Woodstock at Larry Dale Field Friday.

The Corsairs were paced in that department by fullback Jerome Cyranek.

With the score tied 7-7 in the fourth quarter, Crynak burst free on an 85 yard run which put Carmel ahead for good,

"He just broke into the middle of the field and outran two safeties," Fitzgibbons said.

Matt Simmons, who usually gets the headlines for Carmel's offense, had 181 yards and opened the scoring with a 13 yard run Quarterhack Dan Bell "threw the ball real well" in the contest, completing six of nine for 88 yards.

Fitzgibbons praised several players on defense with outstanding games. "I'm happy that the defense is really coming along," he Cornerback David Montgomery played intercepted two passes against Woodstock.
